

CLA & RISE Talking Points in Response to Trump Administration MOA Announcement on Work to Improve Pesticide Regulation as it Relates to Endangered Species
Protections

- We applaud the Trump Administration for taking the steps necessary to address improved federal protection of endangered and threatened species and their habitats.
- We expect the Working Group's recommendations will not only help to ensure that consultation works between agencies, but will promote government efficiency and effectiveness.
- We are pleased the MOA recognizes the unique skills and expertise that each agency brings to the protection of endangered and threatened species.
- We look forward to the recommendations made by the Working Group following the completion of the action plan and their work with stakeholders.
- CropLife America and RISE look forward to engaging other stakeholders to ensure that federal protection of the species is more effective and efficient, while maintaining the access to safe and effective technologies for farmers and the public health community.
